MARK KOLTA

Reinventing the Entrepreneur Lifestyle

This special edition of EPN features a particularly talented entrepreneur. We covered him back in 2015, and in this issue we take a deeper look at this multifaceted young star. To recap our last edition, Mark S. Kolta's talents took him to a rapid rise during ten years on wall street. Starting at only twenty-three years of age, Mark consistently ranked among the top advisors at every firm he worked with. Mark also had to wrestle with the trials and tribulations that come with dramatic success at a young age, juggling the demands of professional life while maintaining health, fitness, family, personal relationships and spirituality. Mark works hard but also loves to play hard, and his love for sports, travel, music, style and fine dining have since led him to roads of innovation in the luxury marketplace, with an exciting new exotic car venture he has created in South Florida.

Mark is also leveraging his finance industry experience into the creation of mobile apps. His new lifestyle app, shortly to be released, promises to revolutionize the ability for every day people to gain access to exotic markets. Mark's goal is to allow people to experience the luxury lifestyle in an affordable way on special occasions. Further details on Mark's business venture will be forthcoming, but for now let's just say, that for any of you who follow Mark, all his energy, activities, and style will soon be replicated for those lucky enough to use his app.

Say hello to our spring honoree, partner, and favorite young finance entrepreneur.

Mark, from all of us at EPN - congratulations to your relentless hard work. Success shows!
